Vaginal Problems?

- Itching, burning, discharge, odour and dryness are common problems
- Over 70% of women experience vaginal problems once in their lives, but for many the problems do reoccur
- The most type of the vaginal problems are:
 - Bacterial vaginosis
 - Vaginal dryness

Problem 1

Bacterial vaginosis

- Is a disease of the vagina caused by bacteria
- A change in normal bacterial flora including the reduction of Lactobacilli, which may be due to the use of antibiotics or pH imbalance, allows more resistant bacteria to gain a foothold and multiply
- A bacterial vaginosis is as well known as gardnerella-infection, Haemophilus-vaginalis-infection or aminkolpitis

Reasons for bacterial vaginosis

- Treatment with antibiotics - they disturb the natural bacterial balance
- Visits to swimming pools – the vaginal balance gets weak due to chemicals
- Use of birth control pills – changes the hormonal balance
- Pregnancy– changes the hormonal balance
- Diabetes
- A misbalanced alimentation – too much sugar (as well as alcohol)
- Stress – the immune system is weak
- Use of public toilets
- Too much or insufficient intimate hygiene

The solution:

- Stress

Giving birth, weakness in connective tissue, chronic physical stress or operations in the small pelvic area can all result in the weakening of the pelvic floor.

The consequence can be..

.. incontinence (loss of urine when carrying anything heavy, sneezing, coughing, laughing, or jumping).

What can help?

- Even during everyday movements, the balls train the perception of the interior musculature, activate muscles, and strengthen the pelvic floor
- Specific training and exercise can remedy and prevent this incontinence
- Pay attention to your posture:
